7 New and Improved Palm Beaches Resorts to be Excited about in 2022

The Palm Beaches—more than three dozen sunny communities, many stretched along 47 miles of Florida’s southern Atlantic coastline—are home to some of the state’s most celebrated hotels and resorts, and now a handful of new, newly renovated or soon-to-open properties are making the choice of where to stay and play (golf and wellness are the top draws) more enticing than ever.

From Palm Beach Gardens to Delray Beach to Boca Raton there is plenty to report: a new hotel recently debuted, four others are completing multimillion-dollar renovations and two new properties will join the region’s exceptional roster of accommodation options in 2022. Here’s what’s new and on the horizon in The Palm Beaches.

Mandarin Oriental Boca Raton, Boca Raton

Boca has a second luxury enclave in development. The Mandarin Oriental Boca Raton, part of a mixed-used residential, resort and retail project known as Via Mizner, is slated for completion in the downtown district in late 2022 and will feature a 164-room luxury hotel and 89 residences ranging from 1,425 to 8,800 square feet.

The architecture and design are intended to reflect the Mediterranean style for which the area’s notable early 20th-century architect Addison Mizner is known, along with Mandarin Oriental’s Asian heritage. There will also be a new Jack Nicklaus-redesigned course at the exclusive Via Mizner Golf Club & City Club, a luxurious Spa at Mandarin Oriental and rooftop pools in the residential and resort towers, which will be connected via a sky bridge.
